OECD Programme on Digital Taxation

The OECD has published the work programme on the next steps on taxation of the digital economy. The document sets out the organisation of the OECD work for the next while as well as modified proposals for profit allocation and nexus rules that take into account tax challenges of the digital economy.

Crucially, the OECD acknowledges the political imperative on reaching an early consensus, considering that the rules will have an impact on revenues and the overall balance of taxing rights among jurisdictions. In recognition of the difficulties in reaching such a consensus, the OECD highlights that the pathway forward will require “an early political steer”. The document further sets out that in addition to the technical work, a political engagement and endorsement would be required as the interests at stake for members go beyond technical issues.

Regarding the profit allocation methods, the document no longer operates with the proposals set out in the early- 2019 report, i.e. marketing intangibles and users contribution approach, introducing three similar concepts instead:

- Residual profit splits (modified residual profit split method)
- Fractional apportionment method
- Distribution-based approaches.

On the new nexus rules, the programme indicates that the OECD is considering new Permanent Establishment rules to take into account digital presence, hence potential modifications to articles 5 & 7 of the OECD Model Tax Convention. The second pillar of residual BEPS issues aims to address further corporate base-eroding practices, with establishment of income inclusion rule and tax on base-eroding payments.

The document was approved by 99 member countries and jurisdictions and 10 observer organisations of the Inclusive Framework and was agreed at the plenary on 28-29 May. It will be presented by OECD Secretary-General Angel Gurría to the G20 ministers in Japan on 8-9 June. “For a solution to be delivered in 2020, the outlines of the architecture will need to be agreed by January 2020”, the document states.

Commenting, Mr Gurría said of the developments: “Important progress has been made through the adoption of this new Programme of Work, but there is still a tremendous amount of work to do as we seek to reach, by the end of 2020, a unified long-term solution to the tax challenges posed by digitalisation of the economy. Today’s broad agreement on the technical roadmap must be followed by a strong political support toward a solution that maintains, reinforces and improves the international tax system. The health of all our economies depends on it."

Code of Conduct Group Clears Poland's 9% CIT Rate

The EU Code of Conduct Group (Business Taxation) cleared Poland's 9% rate of corporate income tax introduced last year with effect from 1 January 2019, for taxpayers with revenues not exceeding EUR 1.2 million. The Code of Conduct published on 27 May the assessment that the measure does not need further scrutiny as the application of the reduced rate is not limited to any specific type of business or activities, but applies to the same income as the general rate.

Last year, the Code of Conduct Group cleared Poland's reduced corporate income tax rate of 15% for small companies and start-ups, introduced with the amended Corporate Income Tax Act. The regime was considered not to be a harmful tax practice, as it only concerned small and medium sized enterprises.
